PACIFIC COAST NEWS.

CALIFORNIA.

From San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 16.—It is reported that four prisoners escaped from San Quentin to-day by sawing off the bars of the cell doors. Amongst those reported to have escaped was Al. Courtwright, of Sacramento.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 16.—James W. Lick, the nephew of James Lick, has sued the trustees of the Lick estate to recover $40,000, and under this the coming sale has been enjoined.

There are 318 prisoners in our county jail at the present time.

Five of the horses which ran on Saturday are reported lame. Two of them were taken up country this afternoon.

QUINCY, Nov. 16.—The Western Union Telegraph Company's line reached this place this afternoon, and communication was at once established. The line will be pushed rapidly forward to Greenville.

Weather clear and cold.

ADMIRAL PORTER'S NEW TORPEDO BOAT.

DESCRIPTION OF THE CRAFT—ITS [illegible] — ARRIVAL AT THE WASHINGTON NAVY-YARD.

The new torpedo boat designed by Admiral Porter, and which will soon arrive at the Washington navy-yard for experimental purposes, is thus described in a New York paper:

A queer, rakish, mud-turtle-like craft steamed out of the navy-yard, Brooklyn, and headed down the bay. It was the newly-finished torpedo boat Alarm bound down the bay on a trial trip to test her engines, and especially the new patent steering propeller with which she is fitted. She had on board Admiral Porter, who designed her, Admiral Boggs, Captain Schenfeldt, Commodore Rhind, Captain Jones, of the British navy, and an officer of the German navy.

The steamer's torpedo apparatus is a long snout projecting 20 feet forward of her bow, and 10 feet below the surface of the water. This snout is really a cylindrical tube, in which plays a tongue, which can be thrust out 15 feet beyond the orifice of the tube. The torpedo is attached to this tongue. At each discharge the tongue is returned to compartments in the largest part of the snout, there to be recharged.

The Fowler patent steering propeller is a horizontal wheel, with feathering blades so arranged that the vessel can be steered by changing the angle of the blade while she is at the same time propelled. The engines were not operated at their greatest speed, as the main object was to test the steering apparatus. Several experiments were made with this in the lower harbor. It worked with the utmost ease. The vessel was made to turn completely around in a diameter of 200 feet, while a speed of eight miles an hour was obtained from a little over half her engine power. Changing from full speed ahead to full [illegible] astern occupied thirty seconds. The steering gear is operated by small engines, and appears to be perfect.

Besides the torpedo apparatus, the craft carries a fifteen-inch gun in the center of her bow, so that her attacks both above and below water will be irresistible.

THE [illegible] PRESS ON THE LATE ELECTIONS.

CHICAGO, Nov. 7.—The following are some of the expressions of the Western press on the [illegible]:

The Louisville Courier-Journal regards the [illegible] as an overwhelming revolution, not a mere revolt, but says the Republican party is still a power in the land, and must be met by a policy national and positive, not r[illegible]ive, on all the leading questions of the day. It says the danger and weakness of the Democracy is that the accident of [illegible] has caught it with many uncertain dependencies. "Assuredly," it says, "we owe our victory to our liberalism, and we must keep on liberalizing. Success should make us neither exacting, nor critical, nor inert, nor narrow. Steady is the word."

The Chicago Times designates the victory as a white elephant in the hands of an opposition without a head or settled principles, and predicts that before 1876 the party will fall to pieces for want of any vital principles of cohesion.

The Cincinnati Gazette attributes the defeat in part to the failure of the Republican party to afford relief to the people from many minor evils, but concludes: "If the Republican party will profit by the severe punishment it has received, both it and the country will find the disaster of the present week a blessing in disguise."

The St. Louis Globe thinks the Republican party has been relieved of a great deal of rubbish, and that if, in getting rid of Butler it can get rid of Butlerism, and the time-servers and [illegible] who serve a party for their own ends can be made to learn that the people won't endure them even for the sake of Republicanism, it will not only be a better, but a stronger party.

The St. Louis Republican says the downfall of the Republican party is sudden and crushing, and that it never can be resuscitated as a controlling power in American politics.

PRESCRIPTION FOR THE CURE OF DRUNKENNESS.—There is a curious prescription in England for the cure of drunkenness, by which [illegible] are [illegible] to have [illegible] in recovering themselves. The recipe came into notoriety through the efforts of John Vine Hall, father of the Rev. Newman Hall and Capt. Vine Hall, commander of the Great Eastern steamship. He had fallen into such habitual drunkenness that his utmost efforts to regain himself proved unavailing. At length he sought advice of an eminent physician, who gave him a prescription which he followed faithfully for several months, and at the end of that time he had lost all desire for liquors, although he had for many years been led captive by a most debasing appetite. The [illegible] which he afterward published, and by which so many have been assisted to reform, is as follows: "Sulphat of iron, 5 grains; magnesia, 10 grains; peppermint water, 11 grains; spirit of nutmeg, 1 drachm; to be taken twice a day." This preparation acts as a tonic and stimulant, and so partly supplies the place of the accustomed liquor, and prevents that absolute physical and moral prostration that follows a sudden breaking off from the use of stimulating drinks.

A SUCCESSFUL TEST.—Prof. White, a champion swimmer, recently consented to drown himself in order that his theory of resuscitation might be tested for the benefit of the London Humane Society. After laying down certain rules for holding a drowning person in the water, he plunged into the river—the Serpentine, probably, in Hyde Park—and remained long enough under water to be partially drowned. His son then dived after him and brought him to the surface in an apparently lifeless condition, adhering strictly to the principle laid down by his parent. The breathless body was then turned over to one of the Humane Society's officers and put through the course of treatment recommended. The Society had the satisfaction of seeing White revive, and in a short time return to the water without apparent unpleasant consequences, thus proving his theory by illustration at the risk of death. The trouble with this story is that it seems fishy in more than one sense.

RELIEF OF GARIBALDI.—As a result of the information concerning Garibaldi's condition, recently published in the Tribune, Mr. John Anderson of this city, resolved to give to the needy veteran an annuity of $1,000. A few days ago, we learned that some journalists of Italy favored the scheme of raising $10,000, and [illegible] it to him as a national gift. We are now informed by cable that the municipality of Naples proposes to tender him an annuity of $6,000. At this rate there seems to be a good prospect of his permanent relief.—N. Y. Tribune.

MEDILL AND THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

CHICAGO, Nov. 9.—The Tribune this morning appears under the management of Joseph Medill, and as a Republican paper. In an address to the readers of the paper, Medill briefly recites the causes that led to his retirement from the Tribune, and, speaking of the differences between himself and White, says that they were always political, not personal, and adds: "My predecessor has pursued the course which he believed to be the path of duty with a courage which challenged the respect of those who condemned, and supported his views with an ability which extorted their admiration, and he leaves his editorial chair after having achieved a national reputation. The readers of the Tribune will naturally desire to be informed at the outset of the probable line of conduct of the Tribune under the change of management. A full explanation cannot be given on the instant. Men's opinions and actions are more or less influenced and controlled by the circumstances which surround them, and always by unforeseen causes; but this much may be now safely promised. The Tribune hereafter will be as it formerly was when under my direction—an independent Republican journal. It will be the organ of no man, however high, no clique or ring, however influential, or faction, however fanatical or demonstrative; will give to the Republican party and its principles a hearty and generous support. It will criticize the actions and records of Republican leaders as freely and fearlessly as in days of yore. He declares his firm belief that errors of party and misconduct of its agents can be corrected only within the party itself. As to political newspapers, he says a political newspaper, to be of service to the public, must give one party or the other preference, and while the Democratic party embraces many excellent and most worthy members, who would be an honor to any organization, yet I sincerely believe the Republican party comprises a much larger proportion of the intelligent and educated classes, of the moral worth and business enterprise as well as of the patriotic elements of the nation; and therefore the government of the country and civil rights of the poor, which are weak, can be more safely and prudently committed to its keeping than to that of its antagonists, whose past history and antecedents furnish so much cause for misgivings and dread of its future behavior.

HUMOROUS.

In France a farmer found a little gipsy girl of 11 years in the road. She said her sister had deserted her. Out of pity, he took her home, and two weeks later she ran away with his baby, 8 months old.

Mosby's guerrillas had a reunion in Baltimore the other day. It transpired in the conversation that one of the most popular Methodist preachers now in Baltimore was among the most daring of Mosby's men.

A Salt Lake City journal relates that a citizen of that place, while digging his turnips, had his attention directed to one monstrous turnip by reason of a slight motion, observable while the turnip was on the ground. On cutting it open a good-sized frog tumbled out and hopped off.

A wedding that was to have occurred this week has been indefinitely postponed because the mother-in-law elect heard that her daughter's future husband had an uncle somewhere a cashier in a bank. She said there was sure to be "irregularities" sooner or later, and she didn't want the family implicated in any scandal.

Funny decision in France on an insurance case. If a house is insured for the total value, the value of the land must be included in the sum, and may be deducted by the company from the payment of the loss. So that one must pay premiums for the insurance of that which cannot be destroyed, though he cannot have the benefit of the insurance.

The other day a minister offered prayer at the laying of a corner stone. A brisk young reporter bustled up and said: "I wish you would give me the manuscript of that prayer." "I never write out my prayers," replied the preacher. "Well," said the reporter, "I couldn't hear a word you said." "I wasn't praying to you," quickly responded the parson.

Ben. Cox has a big farm and a big lot of fine hens. The owls have been "going for" Ben.'s hens. Ben. got a pole, split it at one end, and inserted a sharp scythe blade for the owls to light upon when they came for hens. Ben. put it up the other night to try it. The next morning he went out and gathered about a gallon of owl toes, and he does'nt miss any more hens either.

Benjamin Franklin, being in company once with three men who were notorious liars, and wanting to experiment a little in human nature, promised to reward the one who should tell him the greatest lie. The first said that he had never told a lie; the second averred that he could not tell one; the third candidate, however, proved himself the best adept in the art, and obtained the prize, for he assured the philosopher that both his competitors had just told him the truth.

"A RASCALLY RUSSIAN [illegible]—During the Crimean campaign one of the principal regimental canteens in the Russian army was suddenly closed in the faces of officers and men without notice or warning. Prince Gortschakoff, furious, rode up to the purveyor and demanded an explanation, whereupon the latter replied that, instead of yielding him, as was commonly supposed, £20 of clear daily profits, his business was landing him in downright ruin, inasmuch as the greater part of his receipts consisted of false bank-notes. The General, at his wits' ends, telegraphed to the Emperor, and on receiving a reply told the purveyor that if he would open his canteen the spurious notes in question should be cashed by the bank as if they had been genuine. Armed with this assurance the purveyor briskly resumed his business, and labored in his vocation with such zeal and diligence that at the end of the war he had the satisfaction of being able to present for payment to the Imperial Bank £40,000 worth of counterfeit paper, scarcely any of which had really been received by him in the course of his dealings with the army.—London Times.

THE RIVAL HARLEM BOATS.—The details of the race from New York to Albany, between the Shady Side and Sylvan Dell, the rival Harlem boats, which had been arranged, were disconcerted on Wednesday by the refusal of Superintendent Tallman to allow the Sylvan Dell to be used for the purpose. The stakes were to be $5,000 a side, and the Shady Side Company put up that amount. The Sylvan Dell was built in 1872, is 440 tons burden, with a beam engine of 8 feet stroke and 51 inch cylinder, and is claimed to be the fastest steamboat in the world. The Shady Side was built in 1873, and is not so large a boat as her rival. In view of the palm yielded to her without a contest, she is now every day decked out with flags and ensigns, and among which is a long streamer, known in sporting parlance as a "whip," and recognized as a token of triumph. The public will commend Superintendent Tallman for refusing to participate in this needless contest, and it is hoped that he will not be swerved from his position by the taunts of rivals.—N. Y. Republic.

FATE OF THE CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS IN NEW YORK.—New York, Nov. 8.—The Times says it is highly probable that seven of the eleven propositions submitted to the people with the view to amendment of the State Constitution have been defeated. Those rejected are said to be amendments aimed against bribery at elections; that extending the Governor's term to three years, and shortening the time within which he can retain bills for signature; those designed to check incurring indebtedness by State and local governments on behalf of railroad or other corporations; and those providing for punishment of criminal offenses—the giving or taking bribes by members of the Legislature, or others holding office under the laws of the State. Those supposed to be adopted are intended to check special legislation, canal jobbing and alienation of the sinking fund.

THE TERRITORIES.

Secretary Struve, of Washington Territory, was serenaded at Olympia on Friday evening of last week on his safe return home, and his deliverance from his recent unpleasant condition.

The editor of the Boise City Statesman tries to be funny over a blunder of his own which found its way into the columns of other papers as an item of news. He is like an unclean bird.

Sam. Trueworthy, of Orcas Island, has returned from San Francisco with five full-bred Angora goats—two rams and three ewes—three French merino sheep, and a coop of Spanish fowls.

Out of 96 votes which Bennett received in Idaho City precinct, 72 of them were straight Democratic, and he got Democratic votes enough in Boise county to have given him 250 majority, if Republicans had not thrown off on him.

The Seattle and Walla Walla Railroad Company has just received 1,000 lithograph maps of Washington Territory, Oregon and Utah, from San Francisco, with the proposed line of their road, and the Portland, Dalles and Salt Lake road, and their connections, etc.

The Steilacoom tailor, Kaleschefsky, whom we mentioned last week as having met with a painful accident from being thrown from an express wagon and sustaining injuries that would probably prove fatal, died on Sunday last, after four days of severe suffering.

The site chosen for the Fair Grounds at Olympia is just north of the Cemetery, near Tumwater, where forty acres have been purchased from T. F. McElroy. It is proposed to raise funds by subscription to clear the ground off, and put up proper buildings. The county gives $1,000 for this purpose.

General A. V. Kautz, a pioneer resident of Pierce county, W. T., and the builder, while U. S. A. Quartermaster, of Fort Steilacoom, now the Insane Asylum, is at present stationed at Fort Whipple, Arizona, where he recently arrived with his wife. He is Colonel of the Eighth Infantry, now occupying the different garrisons in that Territory.

They put it up in Boise City that Bennett has 2[illegible]3 majority over Fenn with North Idaho to hear from. Fenn was pledged to division of the Territory, and will most likely get at least 300 majority up there, which will elect him. L. P. Brown writes to John Hailey from Lewiston the next day after the election, that Governor Bennett got only four votes on Camas Prairie and only 66 votes in Lewiston, and that Fenn's majority in North Idaho will be about 700; and that the Governor will not get to exceed 100 votes in all that part of the Territory.

The Tacoma Tribune of last Saturday says: "Messrs. L. F. Vining and Geo. T. Vining, of the Tacoma valley, returned to their homes in this county on Tuesday of this week, after an absence of several weeks in San Francisco. Mr. Thompson was there with the first of his hops early enough to sell ten bales at 40 cents a pound, and the remainder of his crop at 32 cents, no one in the market at the time doing better than he. Mr. Vining's hops were new, the first year's growth of the plants, and therefore not quite so good; he sold at 29 cents. As the production in the valley ranges from 1,800 to 2,800 pounds per acre, and the hop can be grown and placed in the San Francisco market at 10 cents a pound, the profit in these transactions can be easily counted.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

The Lieutenant-Governor of the Province has gone off on a hunting tour.

The annual Saanich plowing match will be held at A. C. Anderson's farm, North Saanich, on the 28th November.

To Brodrick & Co., of Victoria, has been awarded the contract for supplying Government buildings with coal.

Specimens of silver and gold-bearing quartz, sent down to Victoria by A. Francis, Jr., from Sitka, assay $2,000 to the ton. The seams are very wide and easily worked.

The Nicaraguan ship Garza, which sailed from Hastings Mills for Australia about ten days ago, put back, having encountered heavy weather and sprung a leak when off Cape Flattery.

The pack-trains of Mr. Nelson and others were on their way down the banks of the Stikine to winter at the Hudson Bay Post, when the last arrival descended that stream. Mr. Callbreath had left Wrangel for the Post with a boatload of grain for their supply.

Gold dust and bars, aggregating $300,000, were carried away last week from Victoria to San Francisco on the Los Angeles in private hands and by Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express. The Express had $176,142 worth, distributed as follows: Bank British Columbia, $69,071; Bank British North America, $56,341; F. Garesche, $50,727.

GENERAL NOTES.

In Belgium a fruit-grower has had great success in communicating artificial flavors to natural fruit. He punctures the fruit and keeps it a few seconds in a solution of the flavoring substance, and permits it to ripen subsequently.

It is hard to convince a Harvard student who, just as he sets out with his Sophomore beaver and cane for a Sunday promenade, and has a lively boil appear on his nose, that there is a wise and overruling Providence, or "divinity that shapes our ends." He can't see it.

On the Amoor river they have a queer plan of performing capital executions. They give the culprit Chinese brandy until he becomes unconscious, and then they bury him alive. Before he recovers consciousness he is, of course, smothered by the earth, and so it is a merciful plan.

There comes a strange rumor from England as to John Stuart Mill's religious belief. It is said that his posthumous essays, which are probably published by this time, will show that he was more orthodox than has been supposed since his death. He makes in them, it is declared, a profession of Theism.

A butcher named Klopp, drawn for the jury in Judge Atocha's court, New Orleans, declared that he was entirely deaf. Judge Atocha remarked in a low tone, "Klopp, you may go," whereupon Klopp's deafness suddenly left him, and he started out of court. He was brought back, however, and put on the jury.

Kullman gets fourteen years for one shot at Bismarck, while Major Burke empties his revolver at Gov. Kellogg, and it is passed over as a "purely personal" matter. Imagine Gov. Dix blazing away from his carriage on Broadway at Comptroller Green, for instance, and then the whole affair being forgotten twenty-four hours afterward.—New York Commercial.

Some person sends this information to a New York paper: "A certain family at an up-town hotel pays a weekly board bill of $500. They have seven rooms and a private table. Six years ago the wife of the head of this wealthy family kept a boarding-house on Fourth street. The husband struck something (not oil), and the interesting mortals jumped from almost poverty to affluence."

The Chicago Times says that the orders for iron shutters in that city are so great that all the factories are driven with business beyond their wildest hopes. The Times adds that "business men in some sections of the city have laid fire-mains in the street at their own expense, to be used only in case of fire, and nearly every large house has added greatly to the internal water supply of their buildings."

Says the Chicago Tribune: Charles Francis Adams is spoken of as the new Senator from Massachusetts. Since this is a time when the revival of pure Republicanism is the alternative to the death of the party, Mr. Adams' election is not wildly improbable.

To-morrow is the day set for the trial of the civil case of Tilton vs Beecher.

OREGON.

Baker City elects municipal officers on Thursday of this week.

The Umpqua river is reported as overflowing and the weather still rainy.

D. B. Scofield has been awarded a patent on a sun dial invented by him.

Forty-six bushels of wheat to the acre were raised on Goose lake last summer.

The new Episcopal church in Baker City is now covered in, floor laid, and is ready for the paint brush.

The Salem public schools close the fall term on Wednesday of this week, and "vacate" until Monday next.

Jean St. Luc de Roboam has been indicted by the grand jury of Jackson county for malicious injury to an animal.

Governor Grover has appointed W. B. Gilbert and B. F. Goodwin, of Portland, Notaries Public for Multnomah county.

About $1,000 have been raised at Salem to induce the location of the works of the Home Manufacturing Company in that city.

The Hesperian and Alka Literary Societies of Salem have agreed to meet each other and contend for the championship in the arena of debate.

A Salem literary society will shortly discuss the following: "Resolved, That the public press of the United States, as now conducted, is a public nuisance, and ought to be abated."

From Hon. E. C. Mason, Superintendent of the Southern Oregon wagon road, the Times learns that this road lacks but two or three days' work of being finished as far as Jenny creek.

Scott, who shot a man named Blaine, at Rye valley, Baker county, week before last, has been arrested and held to answer on a charge of assault with intent to kill. Blaine had a close call, being shot in the breast, but will probably recover.

The Coos Record says the Norway, while making the turn at the Eastport coal bunker, lost steerage-way and ran into the Empire, doing considerable damage to both vessels. It is a bad place at all times, and exceedingly so when the wind blows hard.

It is now quite certain that an Episcopal church building will soon be constructed in Pendleton. Five hundred dollars will be furnished out of the Church Building Fund as soon as a like amount shall be furnished by our citizens. It affords us pleasure to state that nearly $500 has already been subscribed.

Alex. Martin, Esq., of Jacksonville, learns that Senator Jones' horse "Brick Pomeroy," formerly owned by Col. J. N. T. Miller, has made his mile in 2:26, and that his owner refused $7,000 for him. This certainly speaks well for the horse, as well as the Jackson county as a region for producing good horses.

The Henry mine, near Marshfield, Coos county, have three vessels chartered to take their coal, and are endeavoring to secure some steamers. Their efforts to get the Wm. Tabor and Gussie Telfair failed, those vessels being actively employed. Their coal is already sold to a corporation who can dispose of at least 300 tons a day.

The following machinery at Albany is now run by water from the Santiam canal: The elevators at Parker & Morris' warehouse, and at the Farmers' Warehouse; the Magnolia Flouring Mills and Williamson's Flax Brake. The fluming is completed, and the machinery nearly so, for the running of Cherry's Foundry and Hurd's Sawmill, by the same power.

The law in [illegible] Lake county does not go into effect until next January—ninety days after its [illegible] the Governor. It therefore is [illegible] of Jackson and Wasco counties yet. The [illegible] 25 per cent. addition in the case [illegible] county omitted, will apply to the [illegible] of the new county. We believe they [illegible] fish off the positions right away.

CIVIL SERVICE REFORM.

The New York Times of the 2[illegible], discussing the subject of civil service reform, remarks

There has been a good deal of genuine interest felt in the question of an adequate reform of the civil service during the past four or five years and a great many Republicans have found fault with their party for not moving fast enough in the matter Doubtless more rapid progress if it could have been substantial and permanent would have been a good thing But it must be [illegible] that in this country reforms of any kind in the public service depend on the strength and extent of the popular desire for them and in this particular case the portion of the Government supposed to be most nearly representative of the popular desire has constantly interposed obstacles to the reform We may not think that Gen. Grant has done all he might for civil service reform but no one can deny that he has done more than Congress approved of and that what is being done at this moment is opposed to the action of Congress last session

Consideration for the responsibility of the Republican party for the course of the President, together with a proper regard for the high office of the President, independent of his party relations, has tempered the exp[illegible] of the Times but there is still perceptible in the above excerpt a feeling that [illegible] this matter of civil service reform the President has not fulfilled the promises by which he secured his election to the second term, nor the just and reasonable expectations of the people Nothing else contributed so much to his popularity immediately before the election of 1872 as the zeal with which he entered, or seemed to enter, into the work of remedying abuses in the civil service and in nothing else has he so departed from his professions and the platform of his party It would be pleasant to think that he did try in good faith to do what he was elected to do It would be pleasant to believe that his sense of the obligation to carry out the wishes of the people of the Republic, and not his willingness to wink at frauds and corruptions in the civil service committed by the pets of his party, had caused him to [illegible] the course he has pursued since his second inauguration But the facts do not warrant the indulgence of any such ideas The Times generously tries to shield President Grant by the use of language that implies that the people have gone back from the position they occupied two years ago, on this subject, and the President has, perforce, gone back with them, not, indeed, in sentiment, but simply from deference to their sentiment. Such is not the case The people have never for one moment thought of receding from the position they occupied two years since They have never abated their demand for a reformation in the civil list, and have not been slow to manifest their indignation, when, from time to time, the President has shown how lightly the obligation of his vows sat upon him The most popular man in America on the day of his last election, [illegible] it is to day among the most unpopular, and this fact he owes largely to his faithlessness on the subject of civil service reform This has contributed [illegible] to the calling out of that result of the November elections which is called an immense Democratic victory, but which is, in fact, but a last, most emphatic protest by the people, Republican as well [illegible] extravagance and corruption of the national administration as exhibited in every place from the [illegible] down to the collectors of customs and internal revenue

The President has been kept from doing his duty through the restraints imposed upon him and obstacles thrown in his way, by "the portion of the Government supposed to be most really representative of the popular desire" Indeed, has he? Let us see Congress interposed no obstacle till at the very heel of the last session, when it had become plain that the President, wholly under the influence of a few of the very worst political reprobates of the country had long since abandoned the purpose of making the reform anything but a ridiculous farce Th[illegible] Congress refused to appropriate m[illegible] to keep up the fraud The Civil Service Commission had become itself one of the most glaring illustrations of the abuses sought to be remedied, before Congress signified their unwillingness to countenance the sham any longer

These are the facts in the case, as every [illegible]. The responsibility for this outrageous disregard of the pledges preceding the election, and of the well-known and oft-reiterated wishes of the people, cannot be shifted [illegible] the shoulders of President Grant The whole party must suffer, but the President alone, or mainly, is to blame.

DESERTED BY HIS FRIENDS

Further news from Arkansas indicates that Volney Voltaire Smith is likely to fail to connect It appears those other "State officers" who were represented as being so extremely solicitous for the success of Smith have turned tail and left Volney in the lurch, and that a foul conspiracy has been entered into to misrepresent him at Washington If the President of the United States shall prove so devoid of human sympathy as to turn a deaf ear to the cries of Volney Voltaire and the supplications of Mr. Dorsey we shall lose the little confidence in him which survived his refusal to help Ames and Davis of Mississippi when they had made all the preliminary arrangements to get up a bloody riot in Vicksburg In that case the President, for no other reason than that there was no forcible resistance to the laws and no necessity for Federal interference refused to send troops to Mississippi on the requisition of the Governor and Lieutenant and they were compelled to abandon the whole programme of the riot for want of troops to quell it after it should get under way A similar outrage is now, it seems very likely to be perpetrated on Smith of Arkansas and the biggest thing in the whole matter is the [illegible] of him by the other officers, who are tamely submitting to the demand of the law that they shall retire at the end of their constitutional term Such treachery will certainly be remembered —if not in this world, surely in the next

THE BULLETIN AGAIN ATTEMPTS TO DEFEND COL CORNELIUS

The Bulletin has a column and a half more of an attempted defense of Col Cornelius on the charge we have proved [illegible] before the [illegible] designated in the joint resolution, and thus avoiding the signing of the bill to invite foreign capital to help build Oregon's railways The article in question is so full of misrepresentations we are persuaded it must be original and not a plagiarism It does not deny and can not any of the material points in our charge It says the bills were not on Cornelius' desk at the time he declared the Senate adjourned Well, suppose they were not? The gravamen of the charge the only material point is that Cornelius adjourned the Senate some minutes before the hour designated and that too when his attention was called to the unsigned bills by Senator Van Cleave and Senator Bristow, and also to the exact time by Senator Bristow and by that means avoided signing the bills as his office of President required him to do, and that the bill in question was one which the ring of which Cornelius was the acknowledged chief in the Senate were interested to have the bill killed That is the plain truth, and there is no way to evade it, except by downright falsehood

The Bulletin pretends to publish the letter from Secretary Chadwick to the OREGONIAN on on the subject, but, with its accustomed disingenuousness, suppresses that part of the letter which justified the OREGONIAN'S criticism of the Secretary's conduct Only the Bulletin could be guilty of such deception

But in order to show that the OREGONIAN was incorrect in stating at first that the bills were on Cornelius desk at the time of the adjournment—an error which we admit and which is wholly immaterial—the Bulletin proves by Chadwick's letter the truth of our main charge, namely, that Cornelius did adjourn the Senate before the time Chadwick fixes the number of minutes cut off by Cornelius at fifteen Was not that long enough for him to have affixed his signature to the bill in question? After suppressing all of Chadwick's letter that he thought had any bearing against him, the Bulletin still published sufficient of it to prove too much—to show that the charge against Cornelius is true That ought to end the matter

We do not propose to discuss the private characters of the gentlemen involved in this controversy That is wholly irrelevant, and the Bulletin is welcome to all the advantage it can gain by lugging such matters into the discussion It is with the acts of Colonel Cornelius as a public officer that we have to deal But when the Bulletin speaks of Cornelius as "a man who has been the friend and benefactor" of the editor of the OREGONIAN, we demur Will the Bulletin state specifically the matter to which he refers? Colonel Cornelius has never accommodated or favored the editor of the OREGONIAN directly or indirectly He has never been under any obligations to us, nor we to him We owe him no good will except such as we owe to all mankind, and no unkindness except such as every citizen of Oregon owes to a public servant who has foully wronged them, and that under circumstances that gave rise to suspicion of its being done for the purpose of protecting his own private business against competition, by keeping in power the railway manager at whose hands his monopoly is enjoyed

The explanation of the Bulletin's course in this matter is plain, and may be put into a single sentence The Bulletin is owned by Ben Holladay and edited just now by J Gaston

AFTER BLAINE WHO?

It seems pretty certain the Democrats are keying their ideas on the question of the Speakership of the House of Representatives very low Banks, the first Republican Speaker, and who possesses in a high degree all the qualities requisite for the truly difficult position, is to be pushed aside to make way for some one of the old Tammany hacks,

By the character of the man they select for Speaker as much as by any other one thing is the character of the majority [illegible] judged. Blaine, as a standing advertisement of the Republican, has been worth a great deal to the Republican party He is greatly above the average representative of the party in Congress, morally and intellectually, but he stands nevertheless in the eyes of many, as the embodyment of the sentiments and general character of the party, because he is the man the party chose to preside over its deliberations. The Democracy would show wisdom by recognizing the fact that they have been chosen by the people rather as opposition than as Democracy, and select for Speaker Gen Banks who is a true representative of the sentiment that has carried the election instead of insisting upon the choice of some person whose chief qualification for the office is his Bourbon record

Judge Strong is out in another letter on the Wallamet-Willamette controversy His article fills nearly three columns of the Bulletin We are glad to see the subject thoroughly discussed The true orthography of the name is by no means an unimportant matter unless all inquiry into the derivation and origin of words is unimportant The evidence should all be produced, and when the truth is reached it should be accepted on all hands whatever may have been their notions before

The Illinois Legislature is in much the same condition as was the late session of the Oregon Legislature neither of the three parties has a majority on joint ballot The Independents being in a situation to defeat any job the old parties may attempt to put through It is hoped there will be less legislative corruption than usual That was the effect of the Independent movement in this State The last session is the only one for many years to which no stain of corruption attached.

Col H I Preston formerly a resident of this State, is now living in Russian Valley, near Cloverdale, where he has a large ranch. He is cultivating almonds on a large scale

Speaker Blaine is spoken of as a candidate for the United States Senate It has been generally understood that Senator Hamlin had a life lease on the office

The Chicago Tribune, since its change to a straightout Republican paper defines its position on the currency question, by quoting the resolution on the subject in the Democratic platform of that State and adding This declaration by the Illinois opposition is [illegible] an avowment of the policy which this paper proposes to support on this subject as any that has been written. Therefore we have adopted it

MUTUAL LIFE ASSOCIATION.

Capital Stock, $100,000.

Organized Upon U. S. Gold Coin Basis.

Incorporated Portland, Oregon, 1874

OFFICERS:

P WASSERMAN President
E. QUACKENBUSH Vice President
D W WAKEFIELD Secretary
W S LADD Treasurer
W H EFFINGER Attorney
M P MORSE General Agent

DIRECTORS:

P WASSERMAN E QUACKENBUSH
W WADHAMS W S LADD
D W WAKEFIELD J L ATKINSON
M P MORSE.

THIS ASSOCIATION WAS INCORPORATED AT Portland Oregon October 9th 1874 with a Capital Stock of $100 000 on a United States gold coin basis and under the laws of the State of Oregon for the purpose of issuing Life Endowment and Annuity Policies, on such terms and at such rates as will be within the means of every citizen and retain at home the large sums annually sent East for Life Insurance which can be as safely and to the public more advantageously invested in building up our home interests

Mutual Life Insurance, in its truth is simply the agreement of any number of persons that upon the death of any one of them those left living shall each contribute a certain agreed sum which in its total or aggregate shall be given to the family—wife or child relative or estate—as stipulated by the deceased But such persons so agreeing (if any considerable number) require the services of a responsible agency for the collection and disbursement of such moneys and it is for such purpose that this Association has been organized and duly incorporated under the laws of the State

The safe and honorable management of the affairs of the Association is guaranteed by its incorporators, whose names are a warranty to the public for safe custody of their trust funds

Life Policies.

In issuing these the design of the Association is as agents of the people to provide them with the advantages of a Mutual Life or Mutual Contribution system of Life Insurance at actual cost without unnecessary and in some cases unbearably heavy expense to which the public have heretofore been compelled to submit.

The originators of the beneficent plan of Mutual Life Insurance never designed that the participants should pay four times its actual cost nor indeed any cost, until the anticipated deaths had actually occurred Common sense tells us that paying a debt when it is due is sufficient in all business transactions

Endowments.

Payable in five ten fifteen and twenty years will be issued by the Association in its corporate capacity giving its pledge for their true payment as stated over the signatures of their President and Secretary That better interest on money and better results to the holders of such endowments can be obtained here than in the Eastern States or in Europe is evident when we consider the difference between the well known three to five and six to seven per cent realized in the East against the ten and twelve per cent interest that can be safely obtained on the Pacific Coast

Annuities.

The Association issue Life Annuities for the payment each year of agreed or specified sums in gold coin to the holders of such Policies these will be issued over the signatures of the President and Secretary The same reasons which enable the Association to issue endowments or agreements to pay a specified sum at the end of a stated term of years and to give such endowments on better terms than can be done by any Eastern Life Insurance Company also apply in case of Annuities or a stated sum annually to be given by the Association

CITY [illegible]

NEW QUARTZ DISCOVERIES.—Mr. J. Mc Fisk received by the steamer California a small box containing a number of specimens of quartz which were recently discov[illegible] near Sitka. Accompanying the box was a letter written by a gentleman who is now [illegible] Sitka. He says In the box acco[illegible] you will find various speci[illegible] late discoveries These discov[illegible] by [illegible] Allen Francis [illegible] two weeks since It is located [illegible] up above the old quartz disc[illegible] near Silver bay on the island The gold specimens they got out are very rich From their description I judge they have struck the true lode, and have traced it several hundred [illegible]. It is near the crater of a volcanic extinct of course but filled with water For a distance of one-fourth of a mile on each side, leaders, or flying rock lead into the discovery At the present time there is considerable snow on the mountains Still, enough is known to satisfy the most of those that have [illegible] the prospects that, to all appearances, they have struck it rich. Strange as it may [illegible], they are the first known white men who have entered the island five miles. For [illegible] these men have undoubtedly [illegible] which will lead to more extensive [illegible] and eventually make this purch[illegible] something more than a penal colony." Mr Fisk has tested the quartz sent to him and [illegible] the result very satisfactory On an av[illegible] the quartz will yield from $1,500 to $2,000 per ton

THIRD LECTURE —This evening, Hon. Syl. C Simpson, of Salem will deliver the third lecture of the course at M[illegible] Hall Mr. Simpson has chosen for his subject, "Grit" The lecturer is an Oregonian and a [illegible] of the Willamette University Few men in the State are the equal of Mr Simpson in the lecture field To a [illegible] analytical mind, [illegible] of grasping and com[illegible] any [illegible] coming within its range, all the [illegible] of scholastic attainments have [illegible] Mr Simpson is a profound [illegible] and [illegible] instructive speaker The [illegible] that he is to lecture is [illegible] the public [illegible] promised those who attend [illegible] is the hour for the commen[illegible] of the lecture. A crowded hall may be [illegible]

FRACTURED LEG —Capt Walker, of the Kenophar is not only an expert [illegible] but [illegible] of considerable surgical knowl[illegible]. While on the way to this port one of the sailors had the misfortune to fracture a bone of one of his legs No surgeon was on board to set the limb. Capt Walker was equal to the emergency for he took the [illegible] in hand and set the poor fellow's leg It was a neat operation and the sailor has about recovered from the effects of the accident

THE PARTY AT PROGRESS CLUB ROOMS.—Perhaps our yest[illegible] day's notice of the [illegible] Relief Society entertainment, to come off on Friday evening was a little too [illegible] in its nature as the party is a select one, to which only such persons will be admitted as p[illegible] the proper tickets Committees of ladies will call upon our citizens to purch[illegible] the tick[illegible], the price of which is three dollars The ticket admits the gentleman named thereon and the ladies accompanying him

THE FIRE.—The fire which occasioned the alarm on Saturday was not at the [illegible] of ex Gov Curry, as many persons suppose, but in the house of Mr Johnson, in the immediate vicinity The fire was scarcely worthy of mention, and originated in a bed tick filled with straw Some children were playing with matches about the bed and just how the fire was communicated can very [illegible] agined. No damage done.

PETITIONS

The following petition was read from Mr. Edwin Russell and others

The undersigned would respectfully represent that they are the owners of a large tract of land adjacent to the city of East Portland on the north and that they contemplate the immediate erection of a large and expensive foundry and machine shop and also of a grain warehouse and shipping wharf on the city front of the said land in the town of Albina, whereby the city of East Portland will be greatly benefitted but that they cannot with advantage erect the same unless your honorable body will cause Third street in McMillen's Addition to East Portland to be extended northerly to the north boundary line of said city, so that parties may have a street whereby access may be had to and from the contemplated improvements with the railroad depot and ferry between Portland and East Portland. Your petitioners would therefore earnestly ask your honorable body to cause the said street to be opened and to grade the same and to lay the necessary sidewalks

The petition was referred to the Committee on Streets and Public Property with instructions to report in relation to the same at the next regular meeting

A petition was read from B F Osmus, asking permission to lay a temporary sidewalk from the Odd Fellows Hall to the corner of Tenth and I streets. Granted

CENTENNIAL MATTERS.

Hon. A. J. Dufur, who has long been prominently connected [illegible] has seen proper to take in reference to the great Centennial Exposition which is to come off at Philadelphia during the year 1876 gave us a call yesterday. He informs us that the interest bearing bonds of the Centennial Stock have arrived and will be ready for distribution among those who have subscribed in a few days. These bonds are on deposit at Ladd & Tilton's bank. Having resigned the management of the affairs of the Northwest Shipping Commission Storage and Warehouse Company in this city Mr Dufur proposes to devote a good portion of his time to matters pertaining to the coming Centennial Exposition. He is now ready to receive any article which will tend to show the wealth and resources of Oregon, so that it can be placed on exhibition at the proper time. Mr Dufur has succeeded in making arrangements with the Oregon Steamship Company by which all articles forwarded for exhibition will be taken to San Francisco free of charge. He also hopes to effect the same arrangement with the various steamboat and railroad companies of the State. This morning Mr Dufur will start up the valley on important business connected with Centennial affairs. During the present week there will be a meeting held at Salem by the Centennial State Central Committee which is composed of A J Dufur, Gov L F Grover Rev T F [illegible] Wilkins [illegible] Burkhart S G Reed and J W Virtue

CENTENNIAL BUILDING

Mr Dufur has furnished us the following description of the main exhibition building, the foundation for which has been laid and the work of construction commenced

The principal buildings in which the International exhibition of 1876 will be held are the main building the art gallery the machinery hall the agricultural and the horticultural halls. In the aggregate they cover a floor space of about 48 acres.

The main exhibition building is located immediately east of the intersection of Belmont and Elm Avenues on the Lansdowne Plateau. It will stand 1 0 feet back from the north side of Elm Avenue, the area between the building and the Avenue being used for special products which may be exhibited in the open air. There will also be a space 300 feet in width between the building and the art gallery on the north side which will be ornamentally treated as ground for special purposes.

The building is in the form of a parallelogram, extending east and west 1 880 feet in length and north and south 464 feet in width

The larger portion of the structure is one story in hight and shows the main cornice upon the outside at 45 feet above the ground, the interior hight being 70 feet. At the center of the longer sides are projections 416 feet in length and in the center of the shorter sides or ends of the building are projections 216 feet in length. In these projections in the center of the four sides are located the main entrances which are provided with arcades upon the ground floor and central facades extending to the hight of 90 feet

The east entrance will form the principal approach for carriages visitors being allowed to alight at the doors of the building under cover of the arcade.

The south entrance will be the principal approach from street cars the ticket offices being located upon the line of Elm avenue with covered ways provided for entrance into the building itself.

The main portal on the north side communicates directly with the art gallery and the main portal on the west side gives the main passage way to the machinery and agricultural halls

Upon the corners of the building there are four towers [illegible] feet in height and between the towers and the central projections or entrances there is a lower roof introduced showing a cornice at [illegible] feet above the ground

In order to obtain a central feature for the building as a whole, the roof over the central part, for 184 feet square has been raised above the surrounding portion and four towers 48 feet square, rising to 120 feet in height, have been introduced at the corners of the elevated roof

The areas covered are as follows

	Square feet.	Acres
Ground Floor	[illegible]	[illegible]
Upper Floors in projections	[illegible] 344	[illegible]
in towers	[illegible]	60
	[illegible]	21 47

GROUND PLAN

The general arrangement of the ground plan shows a central avenue or nave 120 feet in width and extending 1 832 feet in length. This is the longest avenue of that width ever introduced into an exhibition building. On either side of this nave there is an avenue 100 feet by 1 832 feet in length. Between the nave and side avenues are aisles 48 feet wide, and on the outer sides of the building smaller aisles 24 feet in width

In order to break the great length of the roof lines three cross avenues or transepts have been introduced of the same widths and in the same relative positions to each other as the nave and avenues running lengthwise viz: a central transept 120 feet in width by 416 feet in length with one on either side of 100 feet by 416 feet, and aisles between of 48 feet

The intersections of these avenues and transepts in the central portion of the building result in dividing the ground floor into nine open spaces free from supporting columns, and covering in the aggregate an area of 416 feet square. Four of these spaces are 100 feet square, four 100 feet by 120 feet, and the central space or pavilion 120 feet square. The intersections of the 48 foot aisles produce four interior courts 48 feet square one at each corner of the central space.

The main promenades through the nave and central transept are each 30 feet in width and those through the center of the side avenues and transepts 15 feet each. All other walks are 10 feet wide, and lead at either end to exit doors

The day is not far distant when a farm of 60 acres within five miles of town on a good road with 40 acres in cultivation, a fine house barn and orchard, and well watered will be worth a good deal of money. Such an one have Messrs DeLASHMUTT & OATMAN which they are offering at less than half its real value. It

The great Frenchman Alfarocha made specialties of irony and sarcasm in all his writings but JOHN O NEIL & CO make specialties of selling the finest clothing underwear cravats ties and hats at unparalleled low prices. This can now be secured by the use of "LYON'S KATHAIRON," the finest hair dressing in the world

PRACTICAL PHASES OF THE CHINESE QUESTION

[illegible] last evening the attendance at the lecture by Rev F F Simmons, Baptist Chinese Missionary was not large but those present received some very earnest and practical remarks on a matter which evidently lies very near the speaker's heart. Indeed, at times he became very earnest in his language and evinced real vigor of thought upon the question

He began by referring to the manner in which China had been forced to communication with other nations remarking that as we had at first compelled her to associate with us it is showing very poor courtesy to endeavor to expel her from the same intercourse. But the question of expulsion is not a practical one. They are here and we have no way of ridding ourselves of them. How then shall we use them?

It is complained that they ruin the prospect of the poor laborer robbing him of his wages but they rather enable him to make a home of his own in the country instead of living a dissolute or aimless life in a large manufacturing community where dens of infamy and enemies of uprightness are ever ruining our poor young men and women.

These towns of manufacture do not furnish happy comfortable homes and good independent living such as the quiet homestead affords. Here, in the great [illegible] country the poor man may live in ease, and not only allow Chinese to fill the manufactories but use this cheap labor to develop his farm where he may reap the direct fruits of it. There are vast areas of our low coast lands supposed to be worthless which under Chinese cultivation would produce two crops of fine rice per year whereby we could furnish their rice from our own products

But China is already furnishing a market for [illegible]. These great forests which are really in your way are being carried to China by the ship load and the demand will continually increase. He had traveled 300 miles inland from Canton and had never seen a tree not enclosed on sacred ground which would produce a foot plank from its trunk

Then our wheatfields! Men say they will soon glut the world. But Chinese are beginning to use flour. Pacific Mail steamers are every two weeks loaded with flour to China and all this supply goes to one Province containing 24 000,000 people. Suppose the 400 000,000 Chinese should adopt similar habits we could not supply them from America!

Let us use them to develop our country to assist in our manufactures to enable us to do our own work instead of shipping material to England to bring it back in goods made at our expense in another land. We have too long been imposed upon in the West by high prices of labor which has compelled this course but under this immigration we may swell our home manufactures and develop also our producing power

We may, therefore, so lay hold of this foreign element as to multiply our comforts and bring a great blessing to the nation

He remarked concerning the abuse of Chinese by hoodlums as very disparaging to a nation claiming civilization. If we were thus treated in China the Consul would be at once called. But they [illegible] and God has placed before us a great opportunity. They are thrown among us for seeking money but we should take care to give them civilization also

Christian civilization began from a poor insignificant germ in Judea from which there emanated a force which swept over Asia Minor, captured the eternal city on her seven hills and afterwards when the hordes of northern barbarians came pressing down they bore back with them the influences of civilization which have made Germany a great nation England a prosperous land and the Western Continent the home of the free. Nor shall it stop here. Christianity has already gained a foothold on the eastern shores and grappled with those ancient powers of heathen idolatry, and as sure as there is a ruling hand in the universe the victory is to be given to the power of the cross and those great mounds of wickedness shall crumble before the power of good

The Chinese do not come to stay. They will not rob us of our country. Ten thousand go back this year. If we could instill but the germinal truths of Christian civilization into one twentieth of these returning ones what a leaven of truth and right would they form among their heathen brethren. He heard one of them telling his countrymen the other day about the greatness of England and America and drawing the inference that their religion must be beneficial. He closed by answering several questions proposed by different members of the audience.

PAUSE WHILE YOU READ THIS. The season for parties and balls has arrived and the cold dreary days and nights of winter will soon visit us. Every young man, old man and boy for that matter likes to present a neat appearance when attending parties the theater or walking about the streets. They likewise desire to be well provided against the cold blasts of snow and rain. What contributes more to the personal appearance and comfort of a gentleman or boy than a nice closely fitting suit of clothes, set off with a heavy warm overcoat? Why will any one be so foolish as to go without either when BECK & WALDMAN have everything in that line. Beck & Waldman in laying in their immense fall and winter stock of Clothing have exercised great care and selected with reference to the demand of trade. They have purchased their goods low and are determined not to be undersold. Let the public note this fact.

I AM A WOMAN

I am a woman [illegible] I may not
Call to him [illegible]
Fly to him
Pray him delay not

And when he comes [illegible] I must [illegible]
Still as a stone [illegible]
Harder and colder
If my heart riot
Crush and defy it
Should I grow [illegible]
Say one dear thing to him
Cling to him—
What to atone is
Enough for my sunning
This were the [illegible]
This were my winning,—
That he were [illegible] me

Not as a lover at last if he part from me
Tearing my heart from me—
Hurt beyond cure—
Calm and demur
Then my behavior
Showing no sign [illegible] him
By look of mine to him
What he has been to me
[illegible] me—leave me—
Christ O, my Savior!

LINCOLN'S HOME

A CORRESPONDENT'S VISIT TO SPRINGFIELD—THE FORMER RESIDENCE AND HOME OF THE ILLUSTRIOUS WAR PRESIDENT

The stranger visiting this capital city of our sister State forgetful that it was the home of Abraham Lincoln would not remain long un reminded of the fact Portraits of the great emancipator stare him in the face in hotels stores offices and private residences and at this time [illegible] and [illegible] are being made for the [illegible] of the Lincoln monument Workmen are busy [illegible] the work of decoration has begun and every one is busy preparing to [illegible] the [illegible] personages who will [illegible] During the ten years which has nearly elapsed since Illinois received the remains of her illustrious dead and laid them away in the quiet cemetery here generous hearts and willing hands have been rearing a costly and enduring monument to his memory a national tribute to an honest man—for while striking the shackles from four millions human beings in the interests of humanity he won a place in the hearts of all, now kind—his humbler virtues have enshrined him in the affections of his countrymen Something about the former home and present resting place of the man who won from his fellows the title of "Honest Abe" may be interesting to the readers of the Journal Accompanied by a [illegible] of Springfield I made my way to the quiet street where, somewhat removed from the business portion of the town stands the Lincoln residence, now owned and occupied by Colonel Harlow [illegible] Secretary of State A corner lot on [illegible] a plain two-story frame house with an L in the rear a side verandah, surrounded by an iron railing the lattice of the verandah half hidden by morning glories the lot above the grade of the street a brick wall, white at one time, rising to the level of the yard, on which a low picket fence is built. This I took in as we approached—at the door I made my bow to a [illegible] who ushered us into "Lincoln's room," as she called it and I was informed that it was his room and that during the war, while Mr Lincoln was in Washington, and indeed until long after his death, the family who then occupied the house left the desk, furniture pictures &c, remaining in the room just as he had left them The room—a double one with folding doors thrown open—is now a costly furnished parlor Among others, a picture of Lincoln, and busts of Lincoln and Dickens adorn the walls "This carpet was Mr Lincoln's," said our young hostess, "and it has never been taken up," added her bright-eyed little sister "The wall paper, carpet, and this looking glass," said Miss Harlow, pointing to an oval gilt framed mirror hanging between the front windows, "are all [illegible] as Mr Lincoln left them" "His desk," she added, "stood in that corner" Standing in this room upon this carpet, before the mirror which had reflected the rough features of his [illegible] the [illegible] and splitter, the captain in the Indian war the Legislator Senator, President, who had made the place historic Here, doubtless, the plan of the great Senatorial campaign was mapped out. Here the [illegible] which thrilled the nation and carried dismay to the ranks of the enemies of freedom and which are now part of the political [illegible] of the country, were prepared Here too doubtless his first inaugural address was [illegible] at a time when the war cloud heralded by the mutterings of its thunder was [illegible]—the [illegible] the little child for some flowers which she had gathered for us to take away we took a lingering look at the objects in the room, and passed out stopping at the gate to notice the fence which resembles a school house fence after each boy has received a new knife for good behavior —names, dates, initials cut into the [illegible], and marks which show plainly that many a splinter has strayed off in the pocket of some relic hunter Most of the original fence has gone that way except that occasionally whole pickets were torn away at a time Where one is taken a new one is put in its place, a supply being kept on hand for that purpose The place presents a somewhat shabby appearance the consequence of an endeavor on the part of the owner to keep it as much as possible unchanged

Leaving the residence, we rode north past the Capitol the arsenal, taking a look at the reservoir which supplies the city with water, to Oak Ridge Cemetery where nature seems to have surpassed herself in the attempt to appear unaided by art. A small stream flowing westward divides the grounds into almost equal parts The bed of the stream having been [illegible] the grand avenue is formed above it. Winding drives and walks lead up the slopes on either side a hundred yards from the entrance gate and near the margin of a little lake is the vault where the body of Mr. Lincoln [illegible] [illegible] and south of this the beautiful structure built of gray granite stands on the summit of the hill Ascending on foot up the easy slope we paused at the open door of the vault, in the base of the monument, and were greeted by the gruff voice of a workmen with "Come in or stay out," not a very cordial invitation but we went in We stood in a vault paved with marble, the walls circular, and composed of panels of polished marble, The workmen were putting the finishing touches on the ceiling but what was of more interest to us than the walls or the workmen was a metallic coffin rusted and tarnished by damp [illegible] on trestles on our left This contained the body of the [illegible] It seemed to me as it lay there amid the rubbish and dirt, the noise of the workmen the dull rub of the polishing stone, yet this was to be its [illegible] place. In the center of the vault mounted on blocks was the new sarcophagus of marble slabs handsomely polished on the end which will be exposed when placed in position A wreath within it the name Lincoln and over and around it the inscription with malice toward none with charity for all within the sarcophagus a cedar coffin, prepared for the final reception of the body Once encased within these marble walls the great man's ashes will be disturbed no more, while the people in whose service he spent his life will make their pilgrimages to this spot and pay their tribute to his memory

The Veteran of the Prison —Walking about the grounds was the veteran of the prison an old colored man who has served over fifty years. He helped to build the cell he occupies, and will remain here for the rest of his life His hair and whiskers are as white as snow He knows nothing of relations or friends and seems happy and contented He is another of those unpaid sentinels who more than any others are to be depended on The crime for which he is lying penance was murder, and as an official remarked the forgiveness denied him on earth has been granted in heaven long ago as he is the very soul of piety —Sing Sing Corr N Y Times

The Cab Driver's Revenge —His number in the Paris list of drivers was 13,022 He had seen better days but now he drove a cab He was sent with others to carry a wedding party from the church to wedding breakfast In his cab were placed the bridegroom and the bride He recognized in the bridegroom a man who had once put him in prison for debt Once fairly on the way he whipped up and drove away from the other cabs and landed the bride and bridegroom badly damaged, after an hour's hard drive in a desolate rural district on the wrong road They got home at midnight It was an [illegible] vengeance —N Y Times

Latest Liverpool advices denote a quiet market Pacific coast wheat ranged from [illegible] for average and 10s [illegible] for [illegible] The London market [illegible] per quarter for average quality [illegible] per quarter for average nearly due at Queenstown

The week opens with a [illegible] in local financial circles the general feeling being that during the early part of the winter season the market will [illegible] management will be necessary to [illegible] the various departments of trade [illegible] The heavy movement going on in wheat and flour require very large disbursements and [illegible] the capital [illegible] the ordinary channels of trade [illegible] not to be soon absorbed by the demand from the process of equalization [illegible] going [illegible] of the sum [illegible] was back in payment for [illegible] goods [illegible] the country needs but this portion at present [illegible] comparatively small and there is a gradual drain going on and will continue until the wheat crop is moved Till then money will be in active demand and rates firm at present or advance [illegible] The [illegible] however, are favorable compared with former years as the basis on which transactions are now taking place would not warrant the high rates and [illegible] of one or two years ago. Margins in all kinds of business are less and we may [illegible] of the country that the supply of circulating capital is more liberal than formerly, as the same scarcity of money as then existed combined with the unfavorable circumstances which now surround trade and commercial affairs would most certainly produce a very general and [illegible] stagnation in almost every branch of business

The receipts of imported merchandise by sail and steamer during the past few days have been quite large, and go far to supply stocks which had in many cases run down pretty low Trade exhibits a fair degree of activity Interior merchants being in the market in fair numbers supplying their depleted stocks and in some instances making arrangements for purchasing goods for the holidays The latter branch however as yet has assumed no important proportions When it does fairly set in it is expected to be quite prosperous, and the houses here which deal in such goods are making the most ample preparations to meet it

Wheat Abroad

By mail advices from the East we learn that up to the 1st inst the movements of the country in wheat and flour exclusive of that from the Pacific States have aggregated about ten million bushels. The movement from Black and Azov seaports has been augmented the shipments in two weeks having been nearly two million bushels by steamers alone, comprising 1,[illegible]0 000 bushels for ports of call and 170,000 bushels for direct ports of the United Kingdom and nearly 600 000 bushels for Continental ports of Northern and Southern Europe The supply in the British Isles continues in excess of the usual average weekly consumption

The consumption of wheat in Great Britain during the eight weeks from August 22d to October 10th inclusive is placed at 3 384 000 qrs against 3 084 418 qrs supply from imports and home deliveries indicating an approximate surplus in eight weeks of about 300 118 qrs or 2 400 344 bushels

The stock of grain in Southern Germany Oct 11 1874 was Wheat, 17 000 qrs rye 60 000 qrs barley, 3,[illegible]00 qrs oats 1 000 qrs peas 1,000 bushels Rubsen [illegible] qrs.

The usual time of the closing of lake and canal navigation is only twenty to thirty days from the 1st inst. which is an item for the consideration of shippers at the West and at seaboard ports

From the 30th of September to the 6th of October 32 wheat laden vessels from the Azov and Black Seas passed the Dardanelles, comprising 18 for Marseilles 4 for the United Kingdom 2 for Malta, 1 for Gibraltar 1 for Antwerp 1 for Rotterdam 1 for Genoa 1 for Sicily, and only 1 cargo of maize and that destined for Malta.

The visible supply of wheat, including the stocks in granary at the principal points of accumulation at lake and seaboard ports, in transit by lake rail and on the New York canals Oct. 24 1874 and the comparative stocks at the other mentioned dates were as follows: Oct. 24 1874, 10 226 419 bushels Oct. 17 1874, 11 102 750 bushels Oct. 25 1873 [illegible] 14 116 [illegible] bushels Oct. 26 18[illegible] 7 1[illegible]3 011 bushels

The amount of wheat and flour cleared from the ports of New York Boston Philadelphia Baltimore and Montreal, for Europe during the week ending the 29th ult. were [illegible] bushels of the former and 25 071 bbls. of the latter against 706 [illegible] bushels wheat and 21 497 barrels flour the preceding week from the same ports

The Rumored Failures

Some days ago we made mention of reports of serious failures of large firms in San Francisco in the grain and shipping business. The rumor here probably arose from the fact that a report had appeared in a San Francisco paper to the effect that the houses of Hart, Blair & Co of that city and Hart Macfarlane & Co of Glasgow had failed in consequence of speculations in wheat. the San Francisco Chronicle publishes the following

A [illegible] that the well known commission and shipping firm Messrs Hart Blair & Co of No 319 California street, had failed obtained considerable circulation [illegible] circles yesterday A [illegible] waited [illegible] early in the [illegible] whether there was any truth in the report. He was informed that the story grew out of the fact that Messrs Hart, Macfarlane & Co of Glasgow had chartered [illegible] load here at 84 and upward and had [illegible] out funds with which to load [illegible] the consignees [illegible] of loading those vessels [illegible] consequently been thrown [illegible] here claim to be [illegible] and are in [illegible]

[illegible] Market

Under advices from Liverpool and San Francisco which report no change in prices our market is quiet, and though receipts are increasing transactions at this point are not numerous or extensive most of the cereal arriving being purchased in the interior We see no reason to change our quotations of $1 35@1 37½ per cental as ruling rates. The available river craft are busily engaged in transporting the cereal in its raw state or in flour to load the ships at hand and from the quick dispatch which vessels receive we cannot believe that exporters find great difficulty in purchasing at current rates

We have heard of some lots of wheat coming in from the west side of the river which had been exposed to the weather apparently while it was in the straw so that the grain looks very dark and in two instances so bad that it was rejected by shippers We are glad to state however that the quantity thus affected is quite small as if greater it might seriously injure the very excellent reputation which Oregon wheat bears should it find its way into foreign markets

Shipping Intelligence.

The steamship Ajax will be due from San Francisco to morrow evening

The steamship California sailed for San Francisco yesterday She will go into the dry dock for repairs and the Gussie Telfair will take her place on the Sitka and Puget Sound route

The bark Dounsenaine which came up the river yesterday is anchored in the stream She is consigned to Mr [illegible] of the Oregon and Scotland Shipping Co and is in the market for a charter

The ship City Camp is at Greenwich docks fitting up preparatory to receiving a grain cargo

The ship Valparaiso Hewett & Co consignees is discharging ballast at the Willamet Iron Works wharf

The bark Harrington loaded by Messrs Hewitt & Co has gone down the river to complete her cargo of grain She carried from here [illegible] tons of wheat

The Windermire loaded by Messrs Rodgers Meyer & Co has dropped down the river and will finish her cargo and go to sea the latter part of the present week.

The bark Mattie Macleay Corbitt & Macleay consignees is moored at Pacific wharf where she will begin to discharge a cargo of Island products to morrow

The barkentine Jane A Falkinburg [illegible] Allen & Lewis, is discharging cargo at the wharf of consignees

The bark One under charter to the Salem Milling Company is being rapidly loaded at Central dock and will have quick dispatch for Europe She has now on board about 550 tons

The schooner Hera is discharging cargo of assorted merchandise at the Steamship Company's dock

The schooner Gotama with produce and lumber for the California market will probably drop down the river to-morrow.

The Nenuphar consigned to Rodgers Meyer & Co has hauled alongside the dock and has a large portion of her ballast out and will begin to load at once

Ayer's Ague Cure,

FOR THE SPEEDY RELIEF OF

Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c, and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons,

R Has been widely used during the last twenty five years in the treatment of these distressing diseases and with such unvarying success that it has gained the reputation of being infallible The shakes or chills once broken by it do not return until the disease is contracted again This has made it an accepted remedy and trusted [illegible] for the Fever and Ague of the West and the Chills and Fever of the South.

Ayers Ague Cure eradicates the noxious poison from the system and leaves the patient as well as before the attack. It thoroughly expels the disease so that no Liver Complaint, Rheumatism Neuralgia Dysentery or Debility follow the cure. Indeed where Disorders of the Liver and Bowels have occurred from Miasmatic Poison it removes the cause of them and they disappear Not only is it an effectual cure, but if taken occasionally by patients exposed to malaria it will expel the poison and protect them from attack Travelers and temporary residents in Fever and Ague localities are thus enabled to defy the disease The General Debility which is so apt to ensue from continued exposure to Malaria and Miasm has no speedier remedy

For Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy
